

Keeping our small businesses alive!

Tough economic times plus battling the big box and chain stores are today's challenges...

How can the small business compete?

Since most of your business is local (within your own zip code) it stands to reason that's the market you need to focus on.....Naturally good service and close proximity are important, but in today's market It really needs the extra boost of a "special offer".

While most small businesses cannot "give away the store", a monetary stimulus to the right market(s) is what will attract new customers.

Click on to our "ADVERTISE" link and find out more on how this could make the difference...